When I mine, I use my very special ultra secret amazingly effective hidden-mining tactic strategy technique: Place the mines on either side of the door inside the building, close to where the doors close, out of view. Sometimes, if done correctly, you can also get them up JUST above the door, and it goes off effecting their head with brain damage, and then they can't place C4s and find themselves back in their base.

If you do it right, they run in thinking The n00bs didn't mine! and b00m...

"I WIN!"
