I wonder why do you all worry so much about such a stupid thing. Doesn't the US Government have enough military stuff? There are more important things in the world. There are even bigger problems in the planet to worry about.

Oh, Aprime, we fight with bows and poison darts, and what's the problem? We don't need $5 Billion tanks or such. We may not be perfect (our government I mean), but here we don't spend so many money for such things.
