umbral- i will say this again.

i am not pimp boy joe. you even admitted this yourself without knowing it in your post before last you said i have split personality disorder meaning pimp boy joe and i and jorge the man are the same people. this is not true i might add. but in that same post you have a separate section devoted to addressing pimp boy joe, but beginning the post about me (i noticed you changed your nickname for me) now why would you do that, if you thought i was the same person as pimp boy joe, wouldn't you still refer to me as retard man 451?

crimson- you say you made something over 40,000 dollars right, now if the taxes took away twenty five percent exactly that would leave you approximately 30,000 dollars which is definitely enough to live comfortably, not to mention the fact that your husband (im assuming) has a good job like you and makes money as well. even if he made only 16,000 dollars that is still 42,000 dollars at the end of the year!!!! you have no reason to complain, you should be happy 14,000 dollars is going to benefit children (education, poor people) and all sorts of other causes. i don't think it is the democrats who are brats but the republicans!!!!

also i noticed you made a minor mistake, you were referring to the two main parties and you said Intellectuals and democrats, you obviously forgot that republicans were on here too and simply just said a truthful synonym for democrats :oops: it would be intellectuals and republicans no biggie though!
