Shame to see you drop your projects and leave future developments, but if you've had enough.. then you know its time to go out an find something that will fuel that need to experiment and enjoy.

Its been great chatting to you about Ren related things, we had good long chats not just about Ren but also about life and general work crap.

I know your not actually gone, but that part of you is.

Your a great guy and you've really changed the way we play, even if you don't realise it. You've made a difference.

Thanks man!
