Many thanks and congratulations to Taximes for designing the new RenGuard official website! This design is very versatile and should suit our needs for a long time to come! New features will appear on the site as we get closer to the official release of RenGuard!

Visit the new site at <http://www.renguard.com>

At this point, I have copied all the content to the new design, but I haven't YET added any new features. However, mac has given me a lot of work to do on the site to support and enhance the RenGuard network, so there will be new things to enjoy soon.
