*raps the podium*

What we have here is a fine example of the somewhat overpopulated "wannabe-god" n00b. Typical characteristics of this species, also known as "getthefuckoveryourself-ius domesticus," include: Ranting, bad grammar, and an inability to accept that they do not, in fact, own the planet and everyone on it. They almost never leave their natural habitat, which is ordinarily a home computer which is well beyond their ability to fully operate. To appear more respectable, however, they will make a point out of criticizing the personal lives of more sensible people who they know nothing about, while providing either false data about their own, or no data at all.

The wannabe-god n00b will often boast about their skill at one task or another, but when put to the test either back down or prove themselves completely inept. In an alternative response, a wannabe who has somehow managed to operate the internet well enough to find cheats may activate them and continue to boast about their nonexistent skill. Instead of asking for help when they need it, they flame with little or no provocation, then blame others when they do not receive the assistance they so desperately need.

Reasoning with this species is not recommended, as it only causes them to become defensive and hostile. While their attack (usually in the form of either a long string of incomprehensible insults or threats of bodily harm) is physically and emotionally harmless, it has been known to lower the IQ of anyone who hears or sees it by about 10-20 points per word. As you could imagine, this can prove disastrous, since it takes at least several fractions of a second to recover from the mental damage.

As a result of their harmless but extremely annoying nature, contact with the getthefuckoveryourself-ius domesticus species is not recommended. They should be shot on sight to prevent mental damage, or at the very least placed on every sane person's ignore list.

Thank you, and have a nice day.
