
Subject: Oh Hareman...

Posted by hareman on Fri, 19 Mar 2004 18:42:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So it is ok for him 'to weasel out' (your words not mine) when many of america's children died because they didn't have a daddy or connectiosn who could get them out of it?

How is this different from Clinton going to Oxford to get out of his term?

How was Clinton's use of drugs different from Bushes?

You can't condemn someone for their actions when the person you are putting on a pedestal is no different.

You guys really need to see th shambles that the State of Texas is in right now. Schools are closing because fo the Deficit that "shrub" left behind, social services are at an all time low. There is not enough money to put the required number of Firefighters on Trucks in Houston. Massive public works that were enacted when 'shrub' was here put money into the hands of his politicval contributors (can you say Halliburton, Enron, Dynege, Exxon-Mobile man the list could go on).

Tell me why the legislation that he enacted in this state for school reform meant that teachers would be teaching the students on how to take the ... tasp, tax, tass instead of teaching teh kids. They teach them for half the year on these damn things. Most of the kids in my daughter's school have trouble and are not learning the basic stuff they need. Today's teachers evaluations are about how many of their kids pass those damned tests and not how effectively they get across basic skills.

But wait you guys couldn't about that. You only care if someone else is dying for your principles ... like the Spanish? Oh. thats right fuck them they don't want to have anything to do with 'Shrub's' campaign on terror. they only want to have peace and be left alone.

But all that is ok if you get elected President.
