Yes you can't just jump on and expect a 10v10. You have to set it up with the clan at least a week in advance.

It has become apparent that most other clans are full of underaged children that have nothing better to do then talk garbage about other clans. And then expect a match.

You want a match agenst WL you need to set it up. We have lives outside of the game. And until you grow up by about 8-9 years you too will have lives.

:rolleyes:
