

---

Subject: Why Windows?

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 29 Mar 2004 00:38:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

let's put it this way, it's too late for someone to develop something that can compete. it's like trying to start up a brand new car company that u expect to compete with GM, Ford, etc... Microsoft practically has a monopoly and trying to create a new OS you would either be bought out by MS itself or you would be squashed right off the bat. MS will not let anyone compete with them, they are on top and they plan on staying on top.

---