I agree...it could use that, yesterday morning right after I got RenGuard, it went to update and it crashed Ren, in the middle of a game, it should wait till we like close Renegade or go to start it up (start up sounds great for the only time for updates)...then again...it auto updates servers at the same time right? so it is kinda good as it is...perhaps only auto update the client-side software at Renegade boot up? :rolleyes:
Just a thought
