Is this another one of those "he's supposed to read the poll votes, take the hint and leave himself" threads like the one about fl00ded? Because I seem to recall people eventually not giving a fuck about fl00ded and getting used to him. So what he's jumped into threads with "your mod suxxors", so have a lot of newbies. Were those newbs banned? No, because crimson and blazer are unbiased admins that'll only ban people if they actually break rules. Why ban on public opinion? Is that a mark of a good admin?
