CrimsonIn public servers? I guess... the one game I played on crimson79, I killed a couple people with bighead before most people had even heard of it. It wasn't to ruin anyone's game, but if you remember, I warned everyone about these cheats before Final Renegade even came out, and I had to see what the impact was. If me, a shitty sniper, could kill the uber leet players on crimson79 server, then it must be pretty bad. Unfortunately, I was able to kill quite easily with it.

But, there's a difference between me, who was part of a team forming at the time to create RenGuard, and a grief player.

Actually, you did it in a separate public server, under a different name. I remember watching you grab kills left and right from inside the Power Plant on Under. And how do you know there's a difference, maybe these "cheaters" were also testing them.
