Yeah, i have seen the goverator 's movie. Did u know that he saved some dude in his vacation in hawii? :rolleyes:

Well about time travel, i used to think it wasnt posible due to that if it was posible it would mean that ALL time was allready written, but then i thought about this. Think of cause and effect, there is nothing in it saying choice. Everything happens due to something else happening. Even if a coin is flips to determine something it can be foreseen becouse if u know everything like wind preasure of the mussles in the thumb and ect you can know. Therefore all time is in fact predictable! Which means the future can be atleast seen.

Now that i think of it if there were a real matrix it could infact predict everything in its world such as the one and ect due to it being able to control all things. As they say in the movie 'Choice is just an elusion..'

I had a lot of time to think in that darn 18 hour flight. Also I would like to say that japan is the most perverted place in the world. IF u go there u will find out.
