TheGunrunThink of cause and effect, there is nothing in it saying choice. Everything happens due to something else happening. Even if a coin is flips to determine something it can be foreseen because if u know everything like wind preasure of the mussels in the thumb and ect you can know. Therefore all time is in fact predictable! Which means the future can be atleast seen.

Wrong I think... go read something on the quantumness type stuff. I found a book about Schrodinger's kitty to be good at explaining it.
