Wow, you all start flaming Duke of Nukes just because he does not share your political views. Did you ever, I mean really ever asked oneself whether your beliefs are right?

Crimson you say there should be no insults yet declaring that anti-war people are idiots and morons.

Kirby, you keep stating how heroic you have been and how much you know about the world, yet you refer to stereotypic characterizations of other countries, its people and the USA.

I ask you, was peace with Iraq ever an option for the US administration? No. it wasn't. It wats to change the government in Iraq by ALL means, including the death of thousands of innocent people, just like the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11th where thousands of innocent civilians died. How is Bush then better than Bin Laden? How is the US foreign policy not state terrorism? How does the USA have the right to dictate how the world has to behave? And above all, how is a military occupation better than a dictatorial regime? Would you like the USA to be occupied just because someone regards Bush as a war criminal?

This discussion really has to end. I am repeating myself for the 10th time now, I get Kirby's K9's and Crimson's points and noone will ever convince the other one. So I think I will stop debating now unless new issues arise which are worth discussion.
