AircraftkillerI actually think Reborn's getting better since they show the initiative to fix the shit problems\models\textures\levels\buildings from the previous four iterations of the modification.

I'll probably be designing a Construction Yard for them.

But that's alright. My past posts are all that can represent my current views, obviously.

That's nice, what are they giving back to you for being blessed with such a wonderful opportunity?

And hey, while we're at it, my previous post doesn't represent my current view on this either!

Although I have a feeling that you'll probably leak some more Reborn material once you're back in.
