louisExcuse me, Aircraftkiller, but do you really think that it shows much of you to judge me just because I use an 'l' instead of an 'L'? If you are going to go around forming your opinions on people based on how they capitalize one letter, then you seriously have some issues. I don't understand where you get off saying that I cannot form a coherent sentence when we've spoken once or twice, and then the time where someone from your "community" was spying on our IRC network. Surely when you were watching what grn_beret was saying you were able to see that I am capable of speaking in coherent sentences, unless me not capitalizing and using punctuation makes what I say go from understandable to garbage.

Oh, and I suppose insulting someone behind their back makes you mature?
