

---

Subject: The Passion of the Christ
Posted by KIRBY098 on Fri, 16 Apr 2004 13:50:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Λ

The reason Catholicism is so popular.

Nobody wants to think about the weightier matters. It requires more than the two brain cells normally used to decide what beer they want to drink, and what girl they want to abuse. Someone else can tell me what it all means. :rolleyes:

Of all the important matters in the world to ponder, these are the greatest. They are the only ones that really matter when you get hit by a bus on the way to the bar to drink your favorite beer and try to trick some poor girl into coming home with you.

There is much more to life than this, and our time here is very short. Prepare for the rest of eternity, not this fleeting moment of time.

---