believe it or not but i once had a day off school back in 1997 when we were told the world was gonna end on March 12th 1997 (or something) due to an asteroid that was gonna hit earth and that this was predicted by an ancient race who had seen the destruction of many adapt civilizations like Babylon and Egypt and the Incas and Aztecs....the moral.....the world could end in 2012, but then again i could get hit by a bus tomorrow and die so who cares? Life is life.....live it stop fearing the end of it coz you were dying the moment you were born and there is nothing you can do to stop it. Why care?
