because of connection issues but after reading over the BHS public forums I know that I won't ever again. Ren was fun because of the very reasons that people are wanting to change it. Call me a purist but leaving the changes to a handfull of people and their yesmen seems sort of wrong to me and seems to validate the points many have made about these people in the past.

simply put I was afraid renguard was going to be used for this and it seems I was right.

no long winded speeches or why I beleive this is wrong.

I want to thank the creators of Ren because I made a lot of friends while I played the game (lost a good one too) so long and thanks for all the fun
