

---

Subject: 2012 Ragnarok

Posted by mrpirate on Sun, 02 May 2004 02:52:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If the world ends tomorrow, or if the world ends in 10 billion years, it doesn't matter. Humans are only good at one thing: creating more humans. It's an otherwise endless cycle of human-creation, but if it stops, why does it matter? What are people doing that makes our continued existence so important?

---