Ahhh, nice thinking.

Well maybe to compensate for it, think about maybe putting usable defensive guns. Like a mounted gattling gun or something where the player can hop in and use it to defend themselves from rush's.

Maybe plop a few of those around certain areas of the base entrance, those would make it a bit more interactive and fun.

Also a few rocks or something on the way to the base entrances for players to hide and take cover behind might be beneficial.
