Whatever man. All I know is that you used to play Renegade pretty often, and we worked together on things dealing with the DDOS attacks that we were victims of. Then you suddenly stopped playing Renegade, and took up the hobby of creating spam posts on the forum. I didn't really mind them as they seemed aimed at providing entertainment than real spam, but just seems to me that you have changed a lot from the foenixz that we used to know.

And now you make this "goodbye" post that is filled with disses to the community, renegade, and renguard along with misrepresenting what RG is even about and about the alternate maps being discussed with the public.

So, you make what sum up to a "Fuck you all, Im outta here" post, and I reply with basically "whatever, heres some stuff you said that was wrong, and you just spam the boards lately anyhow, so see ya later", and that ruffles your feathers.

Sorry man, but if you don't like Renegade thats fine, but I'm not going to miss you after the way you have been acting for awhile, and we see these "I'm leaving Renegade for <othergamehere>" posts every week or so. As I said I'm surprised to see one of those from you, but after reading your parting shots, then I will just say bye and don't let the door hit you on the ass on the way out. If that makes me "elitest" then so be it.
