Quote:Yeah, I mean, c'mon, Republicans have only been the choice of the American people 18 out of the last 28 presidencies (with democrats winning 9). America may not have the best education always, but the american people aren't that stupid to vote bad presidents that many times.

Correction, Democrats have won 10 elections out of the past 28, Bush did not win either the popular vote or the electoral vote, so if you want to vote for some-one who conducted a coup against the white-house by all means do, just remember if this had happened in a less developed state U.N peace-keepers would have arrived long ago to take out Bush, which by the way was one of the things I was pointing at by calling Bush a Despot. As for American people aren't that stupid, they are, it's the same in every country, many people only pay attention at campaign time, then when the elected (or sometimes non-elected) official gets into office, the story changes.
