
Subject: Saving Credits! and destroying a Medium Tank
Posted by Phoenix - Aeon on Wed, 12 May 2004 19:39:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

KIRBY098I don't believe I was referring to you or your paranoia, but if you want to accept responsibility for it publicly, more power to you.

It's not the paranoia that's the problem, it's the manic depression, suicidal nature and self induced psychological schizophrenia. As for admitting it publically, I'm just sick and tired of lying about who I am, so I decided to let on to everyone the truth, including random people on the internet I don't even know (I can be strange about these things).

KIRBY098Debating is an art form that does NOT use insults to stress a point. Debating is logical, and adresses valid points using proofs, and is usually backed by testimonials, and references to accepted literature in the intellectual community. It is also respectful of the counter-opinion, while still at odds with it.

The comment about debating was a joke, I'm fully aware that this is merely an argument. Also referencing other peoples work isn't a debate, it's just being to lazy/incompotent to back up your view point with your own theories. I can accept some usage of other literature, but far too often people rely on it as there only sorce of proof, this is leading to a decadent society.

KIRBY098Conditions that are definately not being met here. This is not a debate, it's a quasi-flame war, over an internet chick who posted someone else's picture.

Firstly where's your proof that that is not a picture of her, frankly whether it is or not was never an issue to me. All I'm concerned about with regards to her is the fact that she is trying to be civil, a trait that is too often lacking among members of this forum (myself included). My contention was with Deathgods actions, I take an extreme dislike to people who try to harm others, be it physically or emotionally. I admit that my initial tactic of attempting to drive him off with insults, be they intelectual or of the usual homophobic variety, was at best useless and at worse will have antagonised the situation. I am now however trying to understand the others viewpoint, beliefs and justifications, whilst still remaining at odds with them, this at least qualifies as a debate.
