

---

Subject: High School

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 18 May 2004 00:19:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

All the rules over marijuana are so silly sometimes. No one's ever OD'd on marijuana. Perhaps in a combination, but never just by itself. It's not like heroin or crack, and to my knowledge isn't even addictive. While people may get in to habits, they don't get addicted to it. This whole business of sending kids to prison for indulging in their curiosity once is so stupid. Drug dealers and smugglers are the ones who should bear the burden, not some kids who feel the effects of peer pressure or want to try something new and be experimental. Besides the regulations, I think marijuana may actually be safer than alcohol for people just trying to have a good time.

---