
Subject: Sick and Tired.

Posted by Kytten9 on Sun, 23 May 2004 17:50:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

j4S[p]Can't we all just get along?

The problem is this is such a big community (and they say this game is dead ????) and within communities are both individual and dynamic personalities, clashes are always going to happen. Whether the clashes are fueled and run through entire networks or just individuals is different.

People need to realize that all of this is nothing to do with n00bstories or BHS but between the network that was stolen from and the individual that did the stealing.

Ya im somewhat annoyed that X lied to me about leaving NS and all the other stuff he told me, and i really dont know if it was his intention to attempt what he did when he "left NS".

Im taking an impartial stance on this (as is my network) we niether condone nor comend the actions Xptek took. But the whole BS that has followed i.e the "you deserved it" "get him banned from his isp" etc and the continuing flame wars to come is a shame....

I think it maybe somewhat better if we just get on with our lives and let the parties involved deal with it however they see fit.
