I'm using pens and markers, I want to make this so my friends will sign it, so cans wouldn't be good for this since I ain't taking a brick wall or a table to school. This is just a draft, tomorrow ill try doing everything smaller and draw scenes of my beloved school and maybe my building. I'm also keeping the crystler building since it gives it a nice downtown feel. I'll probably scan a new piece in about two days since I have little time to do this stuff right now, since my number one priority right now (apart from school, just cause my school's in Queensbridge doesn't mean I don't want to go somewhere in life. I don't wear my pants below my asscheeks...I actualy hate most people that do, but i do wear long t's and i got a earring and a silver chain lol) is hanging out with my friends since I'm moving.

And I'm moving to the lihigh (I think that's the correct spelling,) around the Easton/Bethlehem/Nazareth area) I was up there this weekend and I think it's gonna be cool up there, but nothing's like NYC. Once you get to know people down here, you kinda get attached to them. The good thing is that up in PA I won't lose any friends to a knife or gun...
