Blended river looks much better, i think you should add some trees in the base areas, it's just odd how the trees aren't growing there. Remember back to Red Alert, you always had pesky trees that you had to build your base around, sure you could destroy some trees, but not all.

Would the Allies/Soviets realistically build bases SO close to each other, and in perfect line of sight?

Also, i understand that you've put the Silo there for a cash flow, but with no Ore or Refinery why would the teams have built a silo in the first place?
