spoonyratProx also makes a fair point. FUD being FUD, and thus unable to accept how wrong they are about any given point. I mean, for a clan that thinks they know everything, they sure are wrong a lot

We never claimed to know everything. We have been wrong before and are willing to accept that and correct whatever the problem was, as has already been evidenced with the pages. You, on the other hand, like to put yourself on a pedestal above everyone here. I fail to see how you have any room to critique us.
