I have to agree with ACK this time, read before you ask a question about every single problem you come across. If you haven't already get Renhelp 1.9 from Dante's Mod Exchange (link in my signature). There is a tutorial in there about how the map "Lunar Landing" was made. This will guide you through making a map and also how to set up a harvester in some deatail. I suggest you read it. Also in Renhelp there are lots of things that will answer 90% of your questions. I don't ming helping people out but when you post a new topic each time for every problem you encounter it is a bit much, especially when these are simple questions that can be asnwered by a bit of reading.
