Im really impressed that you guys got these almost visually identical forums up in less than 48 hours (or so) from the start of all this talk and change. I know that there are a few minor bugs still left to get ironed out, as most new sites have them, but I think we all know they will be soon. I can see the dedicated support is there.

Nice job.

Im sure you've thought of this already, but it would be cool, and help with membership, if they would forward old URL here.
