Hmmm let me think...
That can't have been him just trying it out could it?

What kind of cheater would let others know that they cheated?

Use some common sense.

Dan, you believe he cheats but nobody's got any proof... :rolleyes:

Ok, well i admit that this wasnt any of my business to comment on. However i remember a big war in the gsa lobby and on the ba forums between Mr Speed and Hitman, discussing this, which is where i drew my information from, hence in my original post saying that Speed should be asked for clarification. Im not here to argue with Speed, in my previous "discussions" with speed i have learned that there is no point talking to him, especially when it involves his son. I never said that BA cheat, YOU said that one of YOUR members loaded BH on, testing or no testing, why the hell does he have it on his/her PC, the conversation was always about BA and cheats, all i did was comment upon this with unsubstansiated information, which was my bad.

Renguard isnt fullproof, only this week Mac said that one of our members was cheating and trying to bypass RG, so i kicked him from the clan, only to find out that mac himself also got kicked by renguard for the same bug. Sure RG is helping the community, but while there are people who want to mess with it, RG will never be 100%, it will certainly (i hope) be close to it, but never 100%.
