KIRBY098An epiphany?

Not really...

Here's what I said all the way back on page 2 (after which I actually managed to stay out of everything for over a week):mahkrabut whatever. i'm done talking here. i've clearly demonstrated your stupidity, so i will take my leave of the ren forums for a while again. i have better things to do with my time than argue about how many times you've been banned from FUD serversand here's what I just said:mahkral think we've clearly established that there's nothing wrong with the artillery description on the FUD pages, though, so why don't we all just find something better to do with our time and stop flaming each other with useless garbage that nobody can prove one way or the other anyway?

So you see, I'm kinda just repeating myself, only in different words. Though I guess the whole "being polite" bit might be considered an epiphany by some...
