this was my choice to move there since i am the project leader. i talked about that with my team member and they give me the choice. They just want when DR will be back, it will have alot of info/update like if it was the official web page.

yes DR will be back.. but when i dont know. Somerhino and Bigwig will look for a new host. They are still in Ra2: Vengeance team too but they want to stay SS under DriReign name.

My decision have been taken a while ago, but nothing was really official. Reborn and Vengeance where working togheter. Not all team member want to work on reborn or on Vengeance too.. thats there choice, but they agree to give some help when we will need it.

Knowing the other team member? i know alot on them. there is just 1 or 2 i dont know alot about them... but for other one i know a bunch on them i even supposed to meet them so the moving of Vengeance wont really change thing from they currently are.. just the name is moved to another place, new web site and more stuff etc. people keep working on reborn, and some on both mods. There is alot of stuff done in reborn to make a mega update... and when i say mega i dont exaggerate... but i think they wait for the D-day btw what is deez nuts?
