
Subject: The AMT Sucks.

Posted by amid_tha_rubble on Sun, 20 Jun 2004 03:19:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

lol

All that I'm saying is that i strongly disprove of the NDP and it's policies. They don't allow individual mp's/candidates to have their own opinions, and they MUST follow the party line. Futhermore, every NDP government ever elected (provincially, they've never been federally elected) has driven the provinces finances into the ground, sometimes into bankruptcy. I love tommy douglas, but the NDP of his day is far from the one that exists today. They want to tax and spend, but they refuse to cut anything, or control spending.

And those are my reasons for notlinking the NDP. It's not an issue of "look at those hippy left wing wackos' it's 'i don't think they're fiscally or socially responsible to the needs of Canadians'. They have their own aganeda, and they want to run wild with it regardless of what the rest of Canada thinks.

But I will say that i DO think we should keep kyoto and I will be in touch with my conservative MP about that. I'm not afraid to tell him that i disagree.

You won't see kyoto scrapped anyways, not under a minority government. No big, controversial changes are happening anytime soon. Wait for the sponsorship report to come out, when we'll have another election in which the liberals get wiped out and a conservative majority forms. People will see the conservatives aren't scary right-wingers like Martin ahs claimed them to be, and they'll be encouraged to vote for them.
