Hope you don't believe that shit. I already see a contradiction in his story. In the beginning he claims that terrorist muslims do not wear rings. Yet the picture of Pearl he claims is a real muslim terrorist. Look at the picture.

Marc PerkelThe Gold Ring I'm told this is against Islamic law. And - that contributes to the argument. I personally don't find it persuasive by itself, but it contributes a little.....This is what a REAL terrorist looks like. This is the picture of Daniel Pearl who was also killed by terrorists. Notice the thin brown hands - the grabbing of the hair - and the gun to the head. The guy is mean - angry. Pearl has on ordinary clothes and his hands are chained. When you look at the picture you can feel the wildness of a true terrorist. You can tell Pearl looks like he knows he is in big trouble. The clothes on the terrorists look normal for the region - but on the photos of the Berg terrorists - they look like they are in a costume.

That's right... The terrorist is indeed wearing a ring. As for the chair... There are millions of them around the world. They are also made in China. There are chairs like this in Saudi Arabia and everywhere else you go. The way the terrorist are dressed... Watch the news and look at the way they are dressed. The guy at this site reminds me of Kerry, he can't keep his story straight :rolleyes:

I could rip this moron's theories apart all day.
