KIRBY098AircraftkillerIllegal? It's about as illegal as selling a CD at a garage sale.

Don't forget that it's actually illegal to even give him those tracks, seeing as how he didn't pay for them.

Selling merchandise in a yard sale is a legal exchange due to a transfer of property. By selling an object, you transfer all rights, priveledges and responsibilities tied with that object.

Yes, but who's to say that I'm not getting rid of the CD after selling its content?
