Let us just say that you have a burned CD. This CD has a game on it. When you insert the CD into one computer, the autorun will start. This is normal so far but...

When you insert that same CD into another computer, it will show that the CD has music files, and absolutelly nothing else on it.

Sounds like weird riddle, well it is weird, but it is not really a riddle, because this really happened to me . Question: WTF is going on? Is this a punishment from god
