Well, since BHS can't fix any actual problems, they've had to focus on things that may or may not need fixing. Don't take this the wrong way--without the source code, the real problems can't be fixed. It's mostly academic, anyway, since it would seem to me that a large percentage of the Renegade population isn't going to give a shit in either case. Go ahead and "fix" the Barracks. You've got a humongous (60%!) majority of forum-attending players backing you.

Maybe Renegade will be fun once one can't jump on the Barracks anymore. I know that's what stopped me from enjoying it.
