Normally you'd be correct, but seeing as how I know most of the Renegade team members - who are also working at Petroglyph - and I got my work into the game... Along with being referred to as a development team member and being told to put "Worked on Renegade in 2002" on my resume, I think that qualifies me to the position I hold with BHS.

You might not like it, believe it, or whatever else. I know what happened because I had a nice five month ride with them.
