Ok, I have an idea, but people may not like it. For only one month (if this is possible) ban the person(s) responsible for all the flammage and see if everything is fine while that person is banned, if not then that person is apparently not the problem. One problem, how can we tell who is starting the flammage? A vote?

I am awating the flames from whoever disagrees with my post, and you know what, I don't care, it's just a game, and this is just a forum nothing really matters in the long run.