
Subject: Should we fix jumping on barracks on Canyon?

Posted by Javaxcx on Fri, 02 Jul 2004 17:21:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Asking for credit DOES equate to asking for respect. It RESPECTS you to give you credit for something. If you're too arrogant to see that, not only am I not surprised, but I also pity you.

Quote:re·spect (P) Pronunciation Key (r-spkt)

tr.v. re·spect·ed, re·spect·ing, re·spect

To feel or show deferential regard for; esteem.

To avoid violation of or interference with: respect the speed limit.

To relate or refer to; concern.

That means that when you whine about getting credit, you're (broadly) whining about getting respect. [/quote]
