I doubt anyone's really going to care if you set off fireworks illegally as long as it doesn't hurt anyone. Me and some friends sat down in the middle of a neighbourhood street and started firing off bottle rockets, roman candles, Saturn Vs, and lots of other stuff that's quite illegal in my state. Some spent munition even landed on someone's roof after it exploded in mid-air, but no one gave us anything, even though neighbours came and watched and cars would wait for 5 minutes to watch the show. It was lots of fun.

Doitle - all the smoke from those fireworks didn't scare the mosquitoes away?
