Thanks to some spunky people at EA cs department the FDS serial number email registry is back online and sending emails!!!!!!

I just checked by creating a new hotmail account then I registered and... BING! in about an hour I think.. Not sure on the time though, I got an email!

WOOOT!

Finaly! Something Works! To bad there is no automatic way to retrieve sn. Heck I'll just create a new account and use that.

I noticed it, too. Just assigned FDS keys to all usernames I administer under WOL as well!!! The last pack of four just arrived via automatic e-mail.

PS: If you need to register additional WOL usernames, simply run the program register.exe in your Westwood\Internet folder.

Dude. Don't freaking bump old topics. Especially old topics that have entirely no truth left to them. <http://renegadeserver.westwood.com> is still quite out of numbers. You have to obtain a Serial from someone else; another user here. Ask in the appropriate thread.
