Just wondering here - what happens when renegade online support is cut off, the whole multiplayer and everything, what then? Its probably not gonna be very far away, since its eatin up ea's money and thay aint gettin it back in. Surely theres a way to get the rights or just plain decompile the source to change servers, and the larger sites and clans could pitch in to help host the main server(s) or what? are we left to find another game? some food for thought here...

If WOL goes down I'm gonna find another game to play. I absolutely can't stand GameStupid and all the crap it loads on to your system.

Then we sue EA for not providing service. (It says in the MOTD 'EA will continue to support Renegade for as long as necessary' blah blah blah.)

as NECCESARY.

Anyway, we still have XWIS and REOL...

Use the All-Seeing Eye. Much better than Gamespy's client.

Thats if Dante agrees to start up the service, otherwise no REOL for anyone.

Dante an i think Scorpio developed the WOL clone from scratch. They have the full rights to it an full control.

If they don't feel like starting the service again then no one will be using REOL.

Sheesh... why do you people act like you're passing a kidney stone everytime you hear about GameSpy? It's not that bad. I use it all the time when I play Medal of Honor. It's really not that bad.
