I just got rid of 788 spywares on my comp including a few from kazaa and since I got rid of em I cant run kazaa. Im tired of it. Any alternatives to kazaa? I need free music and free chappelle show and South Park

And this isn't illegal how? :rolleyes:

Buy CDs. Buy DVDs. Buy Vidoes. It's simple, and hey! No adware!

yep, + you support the bands . but, it's expensive . cd's in holland cost at least 20 euro (the music I like costs that much).

Oh well.. I use KaZaa Lite for my erm, "personal backup" of MP3s. If you want it, just ask. It's KaZaa, but without Spyware, and it has NO Ads at all. If you want it, reply here, i'll upload it this has been done to death.

K-lite is ure best alternative to Kazaa, but there are now several completely legal downloaders with a tiny monthly subscription.

European court recently followed America with a tightening of laws, so expect fines to start happening.

As to my 2 cents on buying music, Im a musician and i say:

DOWNLOAD. THEY CHARGED TOO MUCH FOR TOO LONG AND WERE TOO DAMN SHORTSIGHTED TO SEE THE POTENTIAL OF THE INTERNET.

let them figure out a way to stop you.

Shareaza is nice, it includes access to GNUTELLA1 (Kazaa network) GNUTELLA2 Edonkey2000 and Bittorent. Downside is it forces you to share.

Why spend £10-£20 on a CD/Album when your literally offered it for free?

£10-£20

or

Free

Hmm.. Tough choice.

See for me, buying CDs isn't an option.
I live in China.

Meaning: the legal Cds sold here are bad pop-shit, rarely can i find good music that is legal, why is popshit sold here? we simple, its cheap to sell and every tourist with a fifteen year old daughter or son is buying Eminem and Britney Spears from here.

And in Finland music is so overpriced its not even funny.
Now downloading a game just to see if its fun to play and such is okay, and then buying it.
because i do not want to waste precious money on a game just to find out its complete shite.

<http://www.klite.prv.pl/>

KLR is what i use, its free of Spyware and such awful things, and even has an IP blocker and other nifty tools to keep the Commie-RIAA bastards off your tail.

WinMX for music

eMule for large downloads/isos etc.

KCeasy for a good alternative to Kazaa (open source, no ads, and it connects to 3 networks instead of just one)

There's a slight problem with KazaaLite, the guy who made Kazaa has screwed KL out of the fast track network because of copyright issues... cough fucking hypocrite cough. This means that KL can't get files from Kazaa, Morpheus, eDonkey, and eMule users anymore.

BTW, you can't actually be caught downloading afaik, you can only be caught uploading.

If your going to use BitTorrent get the Tornado Torrent/Shadow's Experimental client, but you'll have to do some port-forwarding if your working behind a firewall.

K-lite works fine with fasttrack, get 2.4.3

<http://www.oldversion.com/program.php?n=kazaalite>

There was kceasy (kceay.net) but i believe fastrack tried to sue them so their client no longer connects to ft.

If you're a linux user, giFT has always been there, get a nice client like Appolen.

KL for music, Shazara for big files (coz it connects to like 4 networks) amd movie things... and maybe a game or 2...ones that you cannot buy of course heh and IRC for Albums...

but yeah shazara is good, bit torrent, emule and some other networks, so its all good...

If you live in Canada Kazaa isn't illegal. In Canada you're allowed to download and not upload All I really download is metallica, which I'm slowly buying thier CD's(and shirts) anyway, so I am not stealing

Yup, direct connect rox. Only problem is you have to share 10+ GB on most hubs. I might have gotten an old release of KCeasy, the giFT that i have apparantly doesnt have fasttrack support, only Gnutella and openFT

Edit: actually, ft support was removed after 0.11, you have install that version, uninstall(which doesnt remove that version of gift), and then install the latest version

EDIT: UPDATE:

Install 0.13, uncheck gift in the installlation, then install 0.11, uncheck everything that you can except for gift, install 0.13 again and uncheck everthing except the main execuatable there is no need to uninstall anything
