RenGuard client doesn't go to the tray when I open renegade, it stays on my taskbar as well. Is it supposed to do that? If it is, it should be changed to only be in the tray.

Do you have XP?

If so, click on the little arrow on the system tray to show the rest of the things. It should show the Renegade R as Renguard.

It shouldn't be in the taskbar when it's been minimized .. it goes into the tray.

If that doesn't happen for you, something is wrong.. we changed it for 1.03.

It is in the taskbar and the tray when it launches Renegade, from the RG main screen I can minizmie it directly to the tray only but when RG launches Renegade it goes to tray and taskbar. When that happens, if I click on the taskbar nothing happens. I think it may be the reason why my RG is using an excessive amount of memory when I play Renegade but when I put it to the tray manually it uses close to nothing. I already have 1.03.

And I already can see all icons in my tray. It seems to do it only sometimes, other times it works like it should.
