My internet has been running slow for some reason i have DSL and since yesterday its been running liek i have dial up to load webpages but normal downloading stuff i used adware 6.0 and spybot and its still running slow please help its very annoying. I have a cheap ass computer a 2ghz celeron with 256mb DDRram and a 64mb 7500radeon gpx card could it started runnign slow after my brother reinstalled Generals could that be the problem? (i dunno what that has to do with the internet but maybe) also the ethernet light on my modem has been flashing that i recently noticed is that bad? im really pissed off and dont want to figure out the problem myself because my brother would somehow make it seem that i did somthing bad to the computer even though he downloads all kinds of crap gets virus's and shit. So please help (and dont make fun of me being poor or being stupid when it comes to computers, i haven really used the computers much till not even a year ago

You know why commas, and other forms of punctuation, were created?

"The use of standard marks and signs in writing and printing to separate words into sentences, clauses, and phrases in order to clarify meaning."

In other words, writing is like automotive traffic. Punctuation tells the reader when to stop, when to slow down, and when to speed up. Proper sentence structure allows the reader to travel at a reasonable speed without undue hesitation or speeding.

Unfortunately for you, it looks as if you created a 10 car pileup.
