I don't see what AK has to do with it though . . .

Quote:After this, Silent Kane, a member of the Black Hand Studios (BHS) company, reverse engineered Dragonade, an act illegal on its own, because he did not have my consent to do such a thing. What happens to it now it out of my control.

Do you think I would really bother reverse engineering it? I've code that would allow me to create something similar/better in no time. So take my name out of that unless you can prove that I would really bother reverse engineering it (there's absolutely nothing I couldn't make myself anyways.)

Well, I guess in your ongoing conquest against Crimson blinded people into trusting others who obviously couldn't be trusted. If your going to trust someone simply because they happen to dislike the same people you do, then I have no pitty for what happens. I don't condone it, but I have no pitty. He blames xptek for the breach in security, and while he is partially to blame, he had only come to him earlier that week with the offer. Vlokt decided to trust him, so he shouldn't be putting the blame solely on others.

God forbid you trust people. :rolleyes: This shit is why people suck so much, xp had no reason to do that. Anyway, I'm done with the bullshit. Have fun in Hell xp.

ROFL

Quote:On a side note, remember Dragonade by this simple message: The work was wanted so bad, others resorted to illegal actions, playing with human emotions, lying, and down right thievery to get their hands on it. I believe that speaks for itself.

The ONLY reason anyone here wanted it was to damage you and BC for fucking with RenGuard... At the least, that's my reason, and the reason of quite a few others.

And yet I have nothing to do with all of this.

Not saying you shouldn't trust people, just realize that when people DO screw you, your partially to blame. I mean, in ONE WEEK, he was able to get his hands on the stuff.

Good job fucking asses

I don't see what this has to do with us. Besides, vlokt gave mac the source for Dragonade a LONG time ago so SK has already seen it and doesn't need to reverse engineer it.

You dug your own grave. I had nothing to do with this deception but I don't have any sympathy for you either.

C4Girl's generally a cool person but this really made me laugh:

Quote:With out these mods renegade would have been dieing, but You did a great job at creating these mods by bringing back renegade into a great game.

Once again, "ROFL" at this... This "Dragonade" stuff is only on like five servers, it has nothing to do with prolonging the life of the game.

It's also not a Good Thing that it causes the server load time to be almost 30 seconds longer.

many people play on this dragonade servers BECUASE of the scripts that are run.. the game is improved in thier eyes and has breathed a new life into them servers...

no matter what you think it has prolonged the life of renegade for many people its a shame that vloktboky has decided to quit his work without him we would not have the sniper server mods / CTF mods.. he released these publicly but no some people wasnt happy enuff with just these and had to go to far this renegade community is going downhill and seems to be going down faster aswell :rolleyes:

Well there are several servers running these mods, and CTF was fun for a bit, but AoW is the reason everyone is still playing Renegade.

They should stop acting like complete drama queens, saying "Renegade is now dead". A completely self-centred view, as if they were the only people keeping Renegade alive, instead of those who hurt it so badly by their pointless opposition to and scaremongering of RenGuard. If they had been, why would anyone still play in non-DS servers?
